Delight customers, drive sales

Today’s consumers expect personalized products and services on-demand, at rock-bottom prices. To meet these evolving needs, business-to-consumer (B2C) companies must rethink their operations and how they engage. This is more important than ever as transactions with customers shift from simple product sales to include services, memberships, financing and more. Contracts play a big role in these more complex sales, yet executing contracts hasn’t changed in decades. A modern agreement process using DocuSign delivers a much-needed upgrade that meets your customers’ high expectations and keeps them coming back.

Exceed expectations

Customers want fast, convenient, technology-based buying experiences. Yet, only 22% of companies’ think they’re meeting those expectations. DocuSign lets you deliver a smooth experience wherever customers engage – in person, online, or over the phone.

Work efficiently

Let sales spend more time with customers by reducing administrative work and virtually eliminating errors with automated contract generation and post-signature workflows.

Grow sales

A great buying experience translates into higher customer spending (as much as 3.5 times more⁴) and a greater willingness to pay (up to 16% more⁵). Companies using DocuSign have seen the impact a modern customer experience has, in one case resulting in a 20% boost in sales in-store.

Earn trust

Privacy and data security are top of mind for consumers. Give them peace of mind that their data is protected using a modern system of agreement with identity verification and other authentication and security features.

Results

| 20% more | in-store closed sales |
| 67% reduction | in new-customer signup time |
| 78% reduction | in consumer financing time |
| 94% completion rate | on contracts, up from 40% |

“Our Net Promoter scores in retail are industry leading. Last year, we made a huge step over our competition, and DocuSign was a big part of that.”
